"We're 80 Today"

On June 5, 1895, the first issue of the "Bethel News" was published. In the spring of 1895, A. D. Ellingwood of Milan and Berlin, N. H., opened a job printing shop in Bethel, and the paper was printed in his shop. He was assisted by his wife, Lena.

Ernest C. Bowler acquired half interest in the paper in 1897, becoming sole owner a year later. During his ownership the business grew. In 1906 he opened an office in Rumford and published the "Rumford Citizen" which was printed in Bethel. In 1908, the "News" and "Rumford Citizen" were combined as the "Oxford County Citizen".

A Linotype was acquired in 1906, believed to be the first for a country weekly paper in the state. A larger press was installed at this time. Before the advent of the Bethel Light Company, electricity for the print shop and several stores was provided by the office's power plant.

Fred Merrill of Bethel bought the business in January of 1913. Many improvements were made during Mr. Merrill's tenure, including a new Linotype, replacing the original machine. Mr. Merrill returned to the Bethel National Bank as assistant cashier in 1920. He later, in the mid-1940's, became the manager of the National Bank's successor, the Bethel office of the Casco Bank & Trust Co.

David M. Forbes acquired the business of Mr. Merrill. Mr. Forbes had worked in the plant for some 14 years, beginning in the Bowler era.

In the fall of 1927, Carl L. Brown became owner of the business. He had worked at the plant since 1911. New equipment was added as necessary to maintain a country weekly newspaper and job printing shop. The newspaper press installed by Mr. Bowler in 1906 was replaced in 1956. Mr. Brown was active in the business until he passed away unexpectedly on April 12, 1963, while at work in the plant.

Since 1963, three of Mr. Brown's sons, Edwin, Donald and John, together with Edwin's wife, Musa, have been active in the business. In the past dozen years, a Fairchild engraver, a small offset press and camera equipment have been installed.

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

Stickers to indicate a person is a taxpayer or resident of Bethel, Newry, Hanover or Mason are available at the Bethel town office, Howe's General Store in Hanover, Bear River Cabins in Newry, as well as from the Bethel dump attendant. These stickers will allow a vehicle to use the Bethel dump facilities. When a person requests a sticker they should have some identification showing they either reside in one of these towns or are a taxpayer.

Until people have had time to become aware of the stickers no one that claims a right to use the facility will be denied the privilege. When we have had time to give everyone an opportunity to obtain one, the attendant will be very strict in the enforcement of the regulation.

We are receiving excellent cooperation from residents of the area in assisting with the maintenance of the dump. The vast majority make an attempt to keep the place looking as attractive as that type of facility can look.

Greenwood City — Andover

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —

Wednesday was a clear bracing day mellow with the richness of greens. A strong breeze swept down the valley so at one thirty I ventured up Mosquito Lane to attend a concert. Going up through, there was no buzz as usual at this time of year. The musical-cannibals were missing. The wind had blown them all away.

At the beginning of the lane, as I entered the woods; it was moist and covered with violets, blue, tall, sweet. Perhaps this is the best known as well as the best loved of all early wild flowers. Whose heart has not quickened or been gladdened at one time or another by the glimpse of some fresh green nook in May where—purple violets lurk. With all the lovely children of the shade? They are so suggestive of the dawning year, so associated with the days when life is so full of promise. They are truly "Blue eyes of the spring time."

I was picking my way ankle deep in blue while beneath lay a carpet of white; drops of beauty beneath the flowers. The patterned petals were a delightful study of lace-work. Looking up, there it stood a "breath-taking" sight! Its whiteness pierced the green where this wayside thicket gave it room; the whiteness came from bloom. Why did I shiver with June so nearly here to see snow in fallen apple blossoms?

I looked a lingering goodbye then went onward thinking how grateful we should be to have a gift of memory.

Then at my right came the sweet notes with a ringing quality. I found him wearing his dainty, immaculate white vest with its clean cut chestnut stripes, jaunty and trim. This chestnut-sided warbler liked this neglected spot, and I liked him.

Now the weeds were tall and many tangled vines grew across the lane.

I crossed the pasture fence into the field. The concert was underway. Bob-o-link after Bob-o-link came to greet me. They are a distinctive bird; they are unlike all the rest. Their song is entirely their own. None of the birds which imitate have ever tried this song. In the south they are not liked but on arrival here they are as Lowell called them, "gladness on wings." They have thrown care and caution to the winds.

I continued on to the middle field and the notes still tumbled out with headlong rapidity, in an effort to jump over each other. At one time five hovered above me, their suitor on wrong side up, black below and white above. Occasionally a female flew near then his courtship song bubbled over with joy as he followed her.

Meantime I visited the home of a woodchuck among the lilacs. What a castle he had chosen! There were paths leading out in four directions; clover to the west and north; to the south and east masses of little suns golden glories on green. Dandelions! The wayward wind blew the thinned perfume of the lilacs across my face and the bob-o-links sang on.

It is worth while to take a little time each day to see some fleeting loveliness that will endure forever.

JACKSON-SILVER POST & UNIT MEMORIAL DAY SERVICES

Showers dampened the Memorial Day services but not the enthusiasm of the few faithful of the American Legion in the Locke Mills and Bryant Pond area.

Past Department Commander John E. Howe, speaking at the Locke Mills Honor Roll, told the crowd, "I was appalled and angered when those in government proposed complete amnesty for those who shirked their duty and I will never support any person who proposes this sort of a program. Such action makes in vain the service and sacrifices of those we honor; in this moment of tribute, 'The challenge to the United States and the free world is to stand firm on our principals. Ever remember, 'Freedom is not Free.' Freedom exacts a price, but free men have found that price worthy of their best effort—Courage, Service and Sacrifice. Let not their efforts be in vain."

The colors and firing squad filled their regular position and all stepped out to the inspiring music of the Telstar marching band led by their retiring director Glenn Bangs.

The Legion marching contingent of veterans of three wars and in the Auxiliary, Little Chandra Bailey was representing the 4th generation, riding in her carriage, age five months.

The D. U. V., Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, were there and the children turned out en masse, and that is good as each is learning a bit about the meaning of the day.

At the common the parade halted for prayer by Chaplain Cummings, placing wreaths for those lost on land and at sea.

President Cathryn Lovejoy presented a good citizenship award to Kelly Morse; Vera Cross, poppy chairman, gave out the poppy awards; and chairman Warren Smith, gave the Locke Mills Fire Department a flag for their new building. It was accepted by the chief. After the address by J. Howe and the Appearing with the Auxiliary representing the 4th generation was 4½ month old Rebecca West in her carriage. Her grandmother and great grandmother, were there, marching in the rain to the music of the Telstar band, for the third time.

Several went to East Bethel for short services that were well accepted by a good turnout. The bugler was Wayne Howe.

At 1 o'clock in the rain more faithfuls went to Bryant Pond to hear Lt. Gen. James Alger's inspiring address and march with the band to the cemetery where flowers were placed at Harold Jackson's and his mother's resting place. Alanson Cummings was the marshal and Rev. Hanson gave the prayer.

There was a poppy window display at the laundry, Locke Mills, arranged by poppy chairman, Vera Cross and Sylvia Dunham. Congratulations go to Past President Beverly Melville, who received her B. S. degree in Education May 17 from UMF.

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —

Wednesday was a clear bracing day mellow with the richness of greens. A strong breeze swept down the valley so at one thirty I ventured up Mosquito Lane to attend a concert. Going up through, there was no buzz as usual at this time of year. The musical-cannibals were missing. The wind had blown them all away.

At the beginning of the lane, as I entered the woods; it was moist and covered with violets, blue, tall, sweet. Perhaps this is the best known as well as the best loved of all early wild flowers. Whose heart has not quickened or been gladdened at one time or another by the glimpse of some fresh green nook in May where purple violets lurk. With all the lovely children of the shade? They are so suggestive of the dawning year, so associated with the days when life is so full of promise. They are truly "Blue eyes of the spring time."

I was picking my way ankle deep in blue while beneath lay a carpet of white; drops of beauty beneath the flowers. The patterned petals were a delightful study of lace-work. Looking up, there it stood a "breath-taking" sight! Its whiteness pierced the green where this wayside thicket gave it room; the whiteness came from bloom. Why did I shiver with June so nearly here to see snow in fallen apple blossoms?

I looked a lingering goodbye then went onward thinking how grateful we should be to have a gift of memory.

Then at my right came the sweet notes with a ringing quality. I found him wearing his dainty, immaculate white vest with its clean cut chestnut stripes, jaunty and trim. This chestnut-sided warbler liked this neglected spot, and I liked him.

Now the weeds were tall and many tangled vines grew across the lane.

I crossed the pasture fence into the field. The concert was underway. Bob-o-link after Bob-o-link came to greet me. They are a distinctive bird; they are unlike all the rest. Their song is entirely their own. None of the birds which imitate have ever tried this song. In the south they are as Lowell called them, "gladness on wings." They have thrown care and caution to the winds.

I continued on to the middle field and the notes still tumbled out with headlong rapidity, in an effort to jump over each other. At one time five hovered above me, their suites on wrong side up, black below and white above. Occasionally a female flew near then his courtship song bubbled over with joy as he followed her.

Meantime I visited the home of a woodchuck among the lilacs. What a castle he had chosen! There were paths leading out in four directions; clover to the west and north; to the south and east masses of little suns golden glories on green. Dandelions! The wayward wind blew the thinned perfume of the lilacs across my face and the bob-o-links sang on.

It is worth while to take a little time each day to see some fleeting loveliness that will endure forever.

JACKSON-SILVER POST & UNIT MEMORIAL DAY SERVICES

Showers dampened the Memorial Day services but not the enthusiasm of the few faithful of the American Legion in the Locke Mills and Bryant Pond area.

Past Department Commander John E. Howe, speaking at the Locke Mills Honor Roll, told the crowd, "I was appalled and angered when those in government proposed complete amnesty for those who shirked their duty and I will never support any person who proposes this sort of a program. Such action makes in vain the service and sacrifices of those we honor; in this moment of tribute, 'The challenge to the United States and the free world is to stand firm on our principals. Ever remember, 'Freedom is not free.' Freedom exacts a price, but free men have found that price worthy of their best effort—Courage, Service and Sacrifice. Let not their efforts be in vain."

The colors and firing squad filled their regular position and all stepped out to the inspiring music of the Telstar marching band led by their retiring director Glenn Bangs.

The Legion marching contingent of veterans of three wars and in the Auxiliary, little Chandra Bailey was representing the 4th generation, riding in her carriage, age five months.

The D. U. V. Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, were there and the children turned out en masse, and that is good as each is learning a bit about the meaning of the day.

At the common the parade halted for prayer by Chaplain Cummings, placing wreaths for those lost on land and at sea.

President Cathryn Lovejoy presented a good citizenship award to Kelly Morse; Vera Cross, poppy chairman, gave out the poppy awards; and chairman Warren Smith, gave the Locke Mills Fire Department a flag for their new building. It was accepted by the chief. After the address by J. Howe and the benediction, the participants went to the Mt. Abram Cemetery for the volley and taps. Ice cream was given those who marched.

Several went to East Bethel for short services that were well accepted by a good turnout. The bugler was Wayne Howe.

At 1 o'clock in the rain more faithfuls went to Bryant Pond to hear Lt. Gen. James Alger's inspiring address and march with the band to the cemetery where flowers were placed at Harold Jackson's and his mother's resting place. Alanson Cummings was the marshal and Rev. Hanson gave the prayer.

The final effort was in Andover at 3:30 p. m. to help. More than a dozen members went over and carried their flags. Appearing with the Auxiliary representing the 4th generation was 4½ month old Rebecca West in her carriage. Her grandmother and great grandmother, were there, marching in the rain to the music of the Telstar band, for the third time.

There was a poppy window display at the laundry, Locke Mills, arranged by poppy chairman, Vera Cross and Sylvia Dunham.

Congratulations go to Past President Beverly Melville, who received her B. S. degree in Education May 17 from UMF.

The benefit dance the 24th for veteran Charlie Mason was well attended and a good sum realized. Thanks go to the committee and the Lovejoy orchestra for donating their talents.

23 Legionnaires and their ladies attended church services in Locke Mills and heard an inspiring sermon by Rev. John Haverinen on the meaning of Memorial Day.

The young mystery horseback rider was David Blackwell, in the Memorial Day parade at Locke Mills. He should be commended for the way he managed his animal and took care of emergencies.

30 Seconds WITH THE NAZARENE

Rev. Barbara Huse, Pastor
Bethel Church of the Nazarene

I Corinthians 13. This is our assignment for today. June is the month of roses, romance, and weddings. What is more wonderful than a day in June, the very beginning of summer days. These 13 verses from the Bible are the very best prescription for all of us these days. It is all about love—real love—God's love. Yes, it is still true love. Love does make the world go 'round! We surely need more of this kind of love these days! God extends this love to all who will receive it! Once you have it you must also share it in order to keep it. This sounds rather strange indeed. The truth is, the more you share it, the more you have. Yes, this is absolutely true. The world today needs such love. Let us encircle all those around us with God's great love. Why should He love me so? I am sure none of us can answer this question. We can know it is true! Open up your heart and let his love shine in! "We love Him, because He first loved us." I John 4:19.

TWO TELSTAR STUDENTS ACT AS HONORARY PAGES AT AUGUSTA

Telstar Regional High School recently had the honor of sending two of its students to the Maine House of Representatives.

Edward Kennett and Jeanne Manson spent two days at the State House, each acting in the capacity of Honorary Pages. Their duties involved running errands and delivering legislative documents and messages. They also had the opportunity to meet members of our State Government and to attend various hearings, including a meeting of the Governor's Executive Council.

The invitation to participate in this program was extended by Edwin H. Pert, Clerk of the House of Representatives.

NEWS FROM THE CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

It was Graduation Sunday, June 1, at the Church of the Nazarene as the church honored its youth. It was also a special Sunday as the church received two new members into Fellowship. During the morning service the graduates were honored as Rev. Huse presented the high school senior girls with white Bibles, and the senior boys with blue Bibles excepting Stephen Seames whom we share with the Locke Mills Union Church and from which he had already received a Bible. Those receiving white Bibles were: Sandra Larlee (Gorham, N. H., High School), Terri Lea Mason (Telstar Regional), Kathy Morgan (TRHS), and Judy Robinson (TRHS), and receiving a blue Bible was Charles (Chuck) Mason, (TRHS), Debbie Stearns, who graduated from Eastern Nazarene College was presented with a praying hands necklace and Stephen Seames (Gould Academy) was given a Ten Commandment key chain. Ricky Seames and Donald Morin were then taken into church membership by the pastor and welcomed by the Church Board.

The evening service opened with the song "It's Just Like His Great Love," followed by a prayer by Mrs. Ersel Murphy. The congregation sang "Jesus and Me," and "Follow Me" and then with Stephen Seames at the piano, he and Sandra Larlee sang "Love Lifteth Me." Sandy then got out her guitar and sang "Love's Thru Me." A surprise special (of those taking part also) was a chorus consisting of Mr. and Mrs. "Pat" Murphy, Mrs. Robert Stearns, Debbie Stearns, Sandy Larlee, Jim Cobb, and Stephen Seames singing "Whispering Hope." The Children's Church sang "Jesus Loves Me," and the musical service concluded with the father-son team of Jim and James Cobb leading the congregation in "Jesus is Coming Soon." If you've never heard young Jimmy belt out the chorus of that one you've missed something. He believes in what he's singing and he puts every ounce of breath behind his beliefs. Testimonies and a couple of choruses led into the message by the pastor, Rev. Barbara Huse based on Psalm 37:23, "Life in Steps," the growth and development of children, the growth of Jesus, and the step of faith. In closing there was singing around the altar, as youngsters and oldsters alike joined in "I've Decided to Follow Jesus." Closing prayer was by Gerry Shimamura.

The graduates were then honored guests at a fellowship supper which was enjoyed by all. The Church of the Nazarene certainly appreciated the 1975 graduates and their parents taking part in the celebration and especially Stephen Seames on the piano and Sandra Larlee, for the special music. (The church reporter also wants to express appreciation to Ralph Mills who wrote this article).

"SECOND SUNDAY" SPEAKER

Bethel Democrats will welcome Maine's Attorney-General Joseph E. Brennan as the speaker for the "Second Sunday" program on June 8. The program, which is open to the public, will be held at the Bethel Savings Bank at 7:30 p. m. Attorney-General Brennan is a Portland native and a graduate of Boston College and U. of M. School of Law. He has been in private practice as well as serving in the Maine House of Representatives as Assistant Minority Leader, and in the Senate as Minority Leader. Bethel Democrats welcomed Atty.-Gen. Brennan to the area just one year ago during his primary campaign for governor. Elected by the legislature to the office of Attorney-General in January 1975, Brennan will serve a two year term.

The "Second Sunday" program will focus on the judicial system in Maine and on the role of the Attorney-General's office.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

May 28, 1975

To the Editor:

It was such a pleasure to read in your last issue of the Bethel Citizen, Elizabeth Carter's answer to Grace Lowe's Thanks letter. I would like to add that I had the pleasure of working with Grace at the Bethel Inn. Grace displayed that same sunny disposition and friendly smile. She had everyone go about their chores in a cheerful mood all day long.

I have long since retired and am now living in St. Petersburg, Fla. I have for the past 6 or 7 years spent a few weeks in Bethel with my friend Colonel Clarke, visiting my daughter and her husband, the Jack Parsons. One of the first places of call would be the IGA store. Grace would greet us with her smile and say, "Well I was thinking that it was high time for you boys to show up."

I will be heading in that direction soon and will as usual pay a visit to the IGA, expecting to see her smiling face again. If Grace has decided to retire it will certainly be a sad blow to the IGA. No matter, I do expect to see Grace and visit with her, for I am sure that she will be in the vicinity of Bethel.

Sincerely,
Thomas F. Fitz Vail

CONTINENTAL TELEPHONE MERGES MAINE PROPERTIES

The Continental Telephone System has announced the merger of two of its subsidiary companies into the already existing Continental Telephone Company of Maine.

The two are the Poland Telephone Company and the Maine State Telephone Company, which collectively served 26 communities throughout the state prior to the merger. Now, Continental Telephone of Maine serves a total of nearly 50 communities and more than 31,000 telephones.

"This move offers several advantages to the Continental System to our customers in Maine," said Andrew Hinkley, manager of Continental's operations in Fryeburg.

"The centralization of management and financial services that the merger has made possible will result in a long-term reduction in the cost of administering telephone service," he explained.

Hinkley went on to point out the "management of the company will continue under the same people who our customers have come to know and depend on." He also said that Continental Telephone, the nation's third largest non-Bell telephone system, has had a long standing policy of merging subsidiaries whenever possible to provide better service at the lowest possible cost to its customers.

DISTRICT 44 MEETING APPROVES $2,079,402.78 BUDGET FOR FISCAL '76

In a four hour meeting last Thursday evening at the Telstar Auditorium, the annual District Budget Meeting of S. A. D. 44 approved a fiscal year 1976 budget in the amount of $2,079,402.78. Dexter Stowell of Bethel served as moderator for the meeting attended by about 150.

The Northern Oxford County Vocational Area Budget of $179,181. Net cost to the District will be $5,354.

The voters approved the NOVA Adult Education budget of $4,567. The district's share is $772.

The S. A. D. 44 Adult Education budget of $2,600, was approved.

Considerable discussion preceded the vote on the matter concerning a proposal for a lease-purchase agreement for the former Bennett's Garage property (shoe factory) to be used as a district transportation maintenance center, funds to come from the proceeds of the William Bingham Betterment Fund. Voters approved the arrangement, 83 to 33.

Several questioned the wisdom of purchasing the building instead of constructing a new one on the grounds next to the high school.

Supt. Basil E. Kinney explained that a new building could not be built for the price at which the existing building could be purchased. He also pointed out that the state has imposed a moratorium on construction maintenance facilities.

The main article of the evening authorized expending an estimated $1,383,595.00 which is raised by the uniform property tax and other anticipated revenue. It was approved, 119-11, by secret ballot.

The voters approved raising the recommended amount of $66,770.28 for the maintenance of effort which would maintain the per pupil operating cost at the same level as 1973-74.

The voters then approved the authorization of expending the maximum local levy allowed of $156,562.50. Deducting the local levy subsidy, the amount approved to be raised was $107,375.

A second maintenance of effort was presented to the voters. This would enable the District to maintain per pupil operating cost at the same level as the current year.

In the warrant posted, the amount recommended was $226,302.55, the maximum permitted under statute. A motion was made to approve $158,041.90 as a second maintenance of effort. An amendment to lower this amount to $108,401.90 failed. Another amendment to raise the full recommended amount of $226,302.55 was successful. The motion to approve was further amended to reduce the amount sought under the article to $200,000. The last amount was approved by the voters, 100 to 0.

With the approval of a budget of $2,079,402.78 for FY '76, the following comparison of member towns' educational assessments for the municipal years of 1974 and 1975 may be of interest:

1974 1975 Change

Andover $297,342.52 $281,952.40 — $15,390.12

Bethel 314,617.41 314,181.07 — 436.34

Greenwood 102,943.45 106,146.90 + 3,203.45

Newry 36,579.58 39,703.61 + 3,124.03

WATERFRONT AREA CHANGES
NEED ENVIRONMENTAL O. K.

Eager do-it-yourselfers who have been waiting for spring weather to make changes to waterfront areas had better sit tight. This is the advice of the Maine Department of Environmental Protection to anyone who has not yet obtained a permit to do such work.

Most alterations to shorelines in Maine must be reviewed and approved by local and state agencies in advance of construction or alteration projects. Application forms may be obtained by writing to the Bureau of Land Quality Control, Department of Environmental Protection, State House, Augusta, Maine 04330.

Exceptions to the permit requirement are temporary structures such as floats and floating wharfs and piers. If the structure will be removed from the water for more than five months each calendar year, a permit may not be required.

DEP enforcement officials are advising shorefront owners to check with the Department or local wardens prior to such projects as adding sand to beaches, dredging, filling, bulldozing or building boat houses. Wardens from the Department of Inland Fisheries and Game support DEP in enforcement of the Great Ponds Act, while the Department of Marine Resources wardens help enforce the Coastal Wetlands Law.

As Maine lakes become more thickly settled, the need increases to protect these waters from cumulative damage caused by violations of the Great Ponds Act. A great pond is defined as "any natural pond with a surface area in excess of 10 acres or any artificial formed pond with a surface area in excess of 30 acres, when the shore is owned by two or more owners."

Remember when planning a dock that the less bottom area you disturb, the better. Removable docks and wharfs that are supported by wagon wheels, steel pipes or timbers will cause the least amount of habitat destruction.

Water quality, too, may often be impaired by soil erosion. When lake shores and banks are stripped of cover, soil nutrients are eroded into the lake. A good rule to remember: "Don't remove any rocks, trees, or shrubs along your shorefront unless it is absolutely necessary."

Time invested in filling a Great Ponds or a Coastal Wetlands application is often money saved. Free advice from wardens and DEP staff on the best method of making an alteration has saved many a shoreland owner from costly errors.

The minimum fine for failure to obtain a permit before construction is $100.

KEEP RECREATIONAL VEHICLES ON TRACK
WITH TIMELY TIRE CARE

Many of the nation's five and one-half million recreational vehicles (RV's) are off and running, and timely tire safety and maintenance checks will help keep them on the track all season, says the Tire Industry Safety Council.

"Two important precautions are: first, make sure you have enough tread left to get off to a good start this season, then check regularly to insure your tires are properly inflated," said Council Chairman Malcolm R. Lovell, Jr. "According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration tires are bald, or unsafe, if they have less than 1/16 inch of tread depth between two grooves," Lovell said.

"Many RV drivers mistakenly overinflate their tires to handle heavy loads," Lovell also said, "but inflation beyond the safe limit is no substitute for the proper tires for the weight you want to carry."

Inflating beyond the maximum allowable pressure in pounds per square inch, the "psi max" figure molded on the sidewall, hardens the tire to the point it becomes extremely vulnerable to possible damage, inside and out.

All RV's manufactured since the beginning of 1972 have gross axle weight ratings on a label attached near the driver's seat. Divide the number of tires on the axle into its weight rating to determine the load each tire must carry.

To check RV tire load limitations write for a free copy of the Council's Recreational Vehicle Consumer Tire Code. Address letters to "Recreation" Box 726, N. Y., N. Y. 10010.

The Guide also includes other critical information on RV tire safety and proper vehicle loading. Tire load limitations can also be checked in the vehicle owner's manual, or by consulting a tire dealer.

American Viewpoints

While I can make no claim for having introduced the term "rugged individualism," I should be proud to have invented it. It has been used by American leaders for over a half-century in eulogy of those God-fearing men and women of honesty whose stamina and character and fearless assertion of rights led them to make their own way in life.

I REMEMBER
THE GOOD OLD DAYS

From Mrs. Evelyn Tobias, Oak Park, Michigan:

I remember the good old days as a child growing up in the 30's, living in a middle class neighborhood. We lived with all kinds of different nationalities. From them I learned many different menus on food. Jewish, Italian, Greek, Irish, and Polish—I learned brotherhood.

We went into all the different churches and felt respect towards all the religions, with a firm belief in my own. I can recall helping my Catholic friends decorate the Christmas tree.

I can recall the games we played after school—skip rope, hop-scotch, and hit-the-ball-against-the wall. I rode on a wooden scooter that my father built for me. We always waited for our beloved "Joe the Junkman" who would come through the alley with his horse Rosie hitched to an old wagon painted green. The old mare Rosie would wear a straw hat with a huge rose in the middle of it. Oh yes, those days have passed, but memories shall always last about the good old days of the past.

(You can share your memories of yesterday with others through this column, The Old Timer, 100 East Main St., Franklin, Ky. 40001.)

★ Radial tires should not be used on RV trailers unless the tire and vehicle manufacturers specifically recommend it. Never put radials on the same axle with bias or belted bias tires.

★ Many RV's are driven for prolonged periods in hot weather, increasing tire air pressure. Never "bleed" hot tires, or they could become dangerously underinflated. Pressure will subside normally as the tire cools down. Check tires only when tires are cold.

★ Always carry a spare tire, and include a spare wheel assembly if your RV is a trailer. Spares in the right size may be hard to find in the places you plan to travel.

★ The reasonable speed you drive may be tough on the smaller tire of the trailer you are towing. Watch for overheating and excessive wear.

APRIL FATAL ACCIDENTS
OVER THAT OF APRIL 1974

The Maine State Police reports 13 persons killed in 13 fatal accidents during April, 1975.

Col. Donald E. Nichols, Chief of Maine State Police, said the number of persons increased by one and the number of fatal accidents also increased by one over April of 1974.

The April fatal accident summary showed eight drivers, three passengers (including one school bus passenger), one pedestrian, and one bike rider killed. Seat belts were not used by any of the deceased occupants of the vehicles.

The primary causes of fatal accidents were drivers being under the influence of liquor (5), on the wrong side of the roadway (1), improper or failure to signal (1), over posted speed limit (2), fatigued or asleep (1). In addition one was caused by faulty bicycle, one by faulty pedestrian action, one killed by a load falling off a truck striking a school bus.

Of the motor vehicle operators involved in the fatal accidents, 14 were male and four were female. Nine were under age 25, six were age 25 to 54, and three were over 55.

The monthly vehicle accident summary, based on reports received as of May 9, showed total accidents for April were 1,678—an increase of 38 over the same 1974 period. Total persons injured increased by 25 for an April 1975 total of 608.

LIFE PRESERVERS OF UTMOST IMPORTANCE

Watercraft accidents in Maine in past years have been traced to a variety of causes, with overloading and standing up in boats heading the list. But one of the most prevalent causes of injury resulting from these accidents is failure to have adequate, approved personal flotation devices (PFD's) on board.

Boatmen should check all PFD's before each trip to ensure that they are of the approved type, in good condition, and most important, accessible to the boat's occupants. Persons who cannot swim should wear the devices, and everyone should have them on in rough conditions.

There are essentially four types of PFD's, defined by U. S. Coast Guard standards. The 1975 Maine boat law lists in table form all required devices, describing what types are required for different size craft. Copies of this law may be obtained from wardens, boat dealers and builders, town clerks, Coast Guard stations, and the Division of Watercraft Registration and Safety Office in Augusta.

Maine offers many, many fine opportunities to enjoy boating activities. But please be careful—there have already been eight fatalities directly connected with boating accidents this spring. Don't be a statistic at the season's end!

1975 MAINE DEER
SEASONS SET

The deer hunting season in Maine for 1975 will open Monday, Nov. 5, in the northern zone and Monday, Nov. 10, in the southern zone. Both zones, along with the bear hunting season, will close Saturday, Nov. 29.

The seasons were set by Fish and Game Commissioner Maynard F. Marsh May 12 at a meeting of the Fish and Game Advisory Council in Greenville. Wildlife biologists and warden supervisors presented reports on observations made concerning the way the deer wintered.

Continued progress in recovery from a low population level of the early 1970's was the consensus, except for the
